SUMMARY

Senior brand designer and developer with 15+ years of work across a wide range of media for brands including Netflix, STARZ, AstraZeneca, GSK, and WOW! Internet. Moves easily between very different kinds of work (campaigns, websites, social, video and motion, presentation systems, and brand toolkits) while keeping it all feeling like one brand. A systems thinker who builds living brand systems (design tokens, component libraries, templates, and style guides) that extend an identity into new surfaces without losing coherence. Takes loose briefs to strong, shipped work quickly, with a high bar for craft and detail. Also a front-end developer who codes and tinkers with products directly, which makes developer-facing brands a natural fit. Actively experiments with AI tools (Midjourney, Adobe Firefly, Claude, Antigravity) from early exploration through execution.
